

A Deliberate Attempt To Deprive Everyone Of Their Health Freedom

There's a concerted all-out effort, orchestrated by Big PhRMA, with the full support of the FDA, to basically legislate Natural Practitioners out of business, and take away your free access to supplements in sufficient strength to be truly effective.

According to Gwen Olsen, the ex-pharmaceutical rep, insider-turned-informer, "The FDA and the drug companies are working very hard to eliminate the competition of natural health care. Right before I left the pharmaceutical industry we were told that, 'If we can't beat them, we'll buy them... If we can't buy them, we'll put them out of business.'"

Then according to an Action Alert email, sent out by The Natural Solutions Foundation, Medical Director Dr. Rima E. Laibow, M.D. states the following:

The FDA is using a legal ploy to make all natural health criminal in either one way or another. You can't engage in it if you are not a physician and you cannot use the products even if you are. That's very similar to the laws recently introduced in Australia (5 year prison sentence for using, providing to another person or teaching the use of nutrients) and India (illegal to practice or teach acupuncture, energy healing, sound therapy, etc., etc.). Neither law passed but they will be back in Parliament again. It's the same process: marginalize, then criminalize all competition to the deadly, expensive and oh-so-useful drugs!

For decades, they have taken away any access to Natural Practitioners, or the use of natural supplements, from the poor especially, (as they are conveniently not covered by your insurance). However, medications (appropriate or not), and surgeries (which at times are unnecessary), are most often covered without question, and often without any justification. Thus the poor are deprived of much safer natural therapies, even if they are less expensive, and proven to work, (they basically don't have a choice).

If there's any freedom that we should all enjoy, it's the choice regarding our healthcare. Their next step is to assure that "absolutely no one" can any longer make that choice, (a joint effort by PhRMA and the FDA), along with a movement in Europe called "Codex", (backed by the pharmaceutical industry), which have been attempting to restrict your access to supplements for years. Every single initiative has been promoted, either directly or indirectly, by the pharmaceutical industry, using devious, underhanded, mafia-like techniques of corruption, deception, and bribery.
